Registration for LIMSC is now open!

From the 13th to the 17th of March 2019, the Leiden International (Bio)Medical Student Conference (LIMSC) will take place at the Leiden University Medical Center (LUMC) in the Netherlands. During this five-day conference, around 700 international students come together to exchange knowledge, and you can be there as well!

Some of the reasons why you can't miss out on LIMSC 2019:

- Get to know ambitious students from over the entire world.
- Listen to five inspiring keynote lectures by prominent guest speakers:
 - Prof. dr. Simone Buitendijk, Imperial College London
 - Prof. Siddharthan Chandran, University of Edinburgh
 - Prof. dr. Inger Schipper, Leiden University Medical Center
 - Dr. Tarek Meguid, Village Health Works Burundi
 - Dr. Kevin Jones, Huntsman Cancer Institute Utah
- Enlighten yourself by attending presentations of fellow students.
- Take part in one of the many engaging workshops.
- Network during our Career & Internship fair.
- Get to know Leiden and Amsterdam during our social program.
- Kickstart your scientific career by attending a medical conference.

You do not have to conduct research yourself to participate in LIMSC. Participation is already possible for 15 euros. More information about the program and registrations can be found on our website www.limsc.org. Hope to see you in March 2019! Registration is possible until the 11th of February.
